EpiPens and Anaphylaxis Kits For Schools
There are 26,000 hospital admissions every year in the UK due

There are 26,000 hospital admissions every year in the UK due to anaphylaxis. It is a serious allergic reaction that can be life-threatening and requires immediate treatment. Some studies estimate that 40-50% of allergy sufferers do not carry their EpiPen or AAI device on them regularly, despite being prescribed one.

The Human Medicines Regulations allow primary and secondary schools to buy adrenaline auto-injector (AAI) devices without a prescription, for emergency use on children who are at risk of anaphylaxis but their own device is not available or not working.

Since 2017 we have been trusted to supply thousands of UK Schools with EpiPens and JEXT branded Adrenaline Injectors, along with kits and accessories for correct storage, signposting, logging, maintenance and disposal to meet relevant Department for Education quidance.

Our prices are low, and delivery is fast. Buying emergency devices periodically is a great way to stay dynamic, keeping costs down whilst ensuring your school still has adequate lifesaving provisions should an emergency occur.

Important - Fully Compliant Instant Ice Packs

- All of our Koolpak Instant Cold Packs are fully compliant with the Medical Devices Directive, unlike many other ice packs on the market
- To be used for therapeutic purposes, instant ice packs must be certified as class IIa medical devices and be accredited to ISO 9001: 2016 and ISO 13485: 2016. These standards are a requirement from the Medicines & Healthcare Products Regulatory Agency (MHRA)
- Other brands of ice pack without a CE mark and authority number are NOT compliant, potentially hazardous and not suitable for medical or therapeutic use

KoolKids Instant Cold Packs Compact size is ideal for treating children

- Safe for use on all age groups
- Use to treat bruising and more general aches and pains

Important Legal Update: Martyn's Law Has Been Passed - Take Action Today!

The Terrorism (Protection of Premises) Act 2025, known as 'Martyn's Law', has received Royal Assent and is now law. Martyn's Law mandates who is responsible for considering the risk from attacks, taking reasonable measures to prepare, respond, reduce harm and ultimately save lives with severe penalties for non-compliance. As part of official preparedness quidance, ProtectUK strongly encourage all public and private sector organisations to "enhance first aid preparedness and response planning, so it takes into account the likely injuries which can be the result of a malicious event, such as a terrorist attack". Public Access Trauma (PAcT) Kits have been designed expressly for this purpose and all organisations are recommended to have a "minimum of two" trauma kits on site within official quidance.

ProtectUK recommend that "organisations should undertake an assessment to determine if the current first aid kit, such as workplace first aid kits, are adequate for the treatment of immediate life-threatening injuries". Additionally, the Health and Safety Executive state that risk assessments must "consider the circumstances of your workplace, workforce and the hazards and risks that may be present." No site operator ever regrets having adequate provision to manage critical injuries and save lives, even if outside of the scope of Martyn's Law, with the Home Office advising that public attacks are becoming more unpredictable.

Guidance Update: /

A public access trauma first aid kit, also referred to as a PAcT First Aid Kit, is a first aid kit which supports the treatment of immediate, life-threatening injuries such as major bleeding and unresponsiveness, which 'standard' kits do not. PACT First Aid Kits are designed to be used by anyone and support first aid efforts until the emergency services arrive. They have been developed with Home Office approval and "should be commonplace across the UK" within first aid and response plans. ProtectUK state that: "All public and private sector organisations are encouraged to include PAcT First Aid Kits within the first aid provisions they have in place." A minimum of two kits is recommended for small premises, and more required for larger premises, distributed accordingly and made easy to locate/access.

Public Access Trauma (PAcT) First Aid Kits Created specifically to help members of the public save lives by treating major injuries in the event of an emergency

- Developed by experts across a number of fields, PAcT first aid kits are designed to be kept in public places for use in the event of major emergencies where everyday first aid supplies will not be sufficient
- Empowers and enables untrained bystanders to treat major bleed injuries, unresponsiveness and trauma until professional help arrives
- Kits contain heavy duty dressings, resuscitation shields and clear instructions for anyone to safely provide treatment, regardless of their level of training
- Sturdy green plastic cases are clearly marked with glow in the dark labelling for easy identification in low light, or choose NEW water-repellent soft cases
- Choose from kits with Tourniquets or Tourni-Keys (see page 37 for more information)

ProtectUK state that: "All public and private sector organisations are encouraged to include PAcT First Aid Kits within the first aid provisions they have in place." A key consideration for Martyn's Law compliance, which is now law.

Important Legal Update: -Martyn's Law and Guidance For Schools /!

The Terrorism (Protection of Premises) Act 2025, known as Martyn's Law, has now received Royal Assent and become law. It requires organisations to take reasonable measures to prepare, respond, and reduce harm in the event of a terror attack, and will apply to education settings in its current form.

Schools have their own quidance for major incident preparedness. We have developed straightforward products to expressly meet this quidance.

The latest Department of Education (DfE) guidance recommends that education settings consider compiling grab kits as part of their incident response plans. Kits should include equipment that may be required during an emergency such as "communications equipment, useful information, and Public Access Trauma first aid kits."

Clear roles for protective security and preparedness, including Security and Incident Leads, are also recommended.

School Incident Grab Kit

Official Department for Education (DfE) guidance recommends that education settings "should consider compiling a grab kit comprising of key items that can assist during an incident"

- Demonstrate your commitment to protect those in your care by taking practical measures to be prepared for terrorist attacks and other major incidents
- Includes essential items that may be required during an emergency, such as a Public Access Trauma (PAcT) Kit and 2 x Hi-Vis vests to identify key personnel
- Supplied PAcT Kit comes with heavy-duty contents that meet official standards developed by experts, approved by the Home Office and counter-terrorism bodies (see page 39 for more details)
- Choose from 3 high quality bag options. All are extremely easy to transport and have multiple additional pouches and pockets to add your school's plans, contact details, communication equipment, checklists, emergency medication and other essentials
- Choose from complete grab kits containing PAcT Kits and 2 x Hi-Vis Vests, or empty bags pre-printed with 'Incident Grab Kit' for creating your own grab kit

Customise Your First Aid Kits! - We now offer first aid kits that can be personalised with your logo or simple text

This can help with identification and allocation of supplies, particularly in busy settings. They can also make excellent promotional gifts that showcase your brand or establishment professionally, at the same time as being genuinely useful. Our MOQs are low and we don't charge a set-up fee!

How to order:

- 1. Visit eurekadirect.co.uk and select your bag using the code displayed below, noting the MOQs per product
 - By ordering online, you'll be able to select customisation zones (where more than 1 available) and type (logo/image or text), before uploading your image and/or text
 - If your logo is larger than 20MB, this can be emailed to sales@eurekadirect.co.uk
- 2. We will email you a proof of your artwork/text to sign off
- 3. We print and ship your items
 - Please note that custom items may ship separately to other items in your order and can take up to 3-4 working days for delivery

Please note: We are unable to accept returns of custom products. Prices quoted include $1 \times \text{piece}$ of artwork or text in a single area of your choosing. For additional customisation please add £2.50 per print area, per unit. Minimum order quantities apply for each set of artwork required

Redcap™ Phosphate Buffer Solution - Including Eyebath Has a neutralising effect which significantly reduces the flushing time and the volume of fluid required to dilute and neutralise acid and alkali splashes*

- After eye or skin contact with acid or alkalis, it is only seconds before the pH value is significantly altered, and the corrosive damage may lead to permanent injury
- The first aider is also better protected from becoming a secondary victim whilst in contact with the contaminant
- Quicker neutralisation, especially on the face can relieve the distress of feeling 'underwater' from flushing
- Supplied individually in 500ml bottles with an eyebath cap included
- *It is recommended to continue flushing with saline solution or water until medical help arrives

EPIPENS AND ANAPHYLAXIS KITS FOR SCHOOLS

There are 26,000 hospital admissions every year in the UK due to anaphylaxis.

It is a serious allergic reaction that can be life-threatening and requires immediate treatment. Some studies estimate that 40-50% of allergy sufferers do not carry their EpiPen or AAI device on them regularly, despite being prescribed one.

The Human Medicines Regulations allow primary and secondary schools to buy adrenaline auto-injector (AAI) devices without a prescription, for emergency use on children who are at risk of anaphylaxis but their own device is not available or not working. Orders must be placed by the Headteacher/Principal.

Since 2017 we have been trusted to supply thousands of UK Schools with EpiPens and JEXT branded Adrenaline Injectors, along with anaphylaxis kits and accessories for correct storage, signposting, logging, maintenance and disposal to meet relevant Department for Education guidance.

Our prices are low, and delivery is fast. We supply AAI devices in innovative and sustainable temperature-controlled packaging to ensure there is minimal delay, with most orders received next working day. The number of pupils with allergies or prescribed different types of AAI can vary each year. Our straightforward service has worked well for thousands of UK schools because it is easy to order how many pens are needed, periodically, at the same time as other essential provisions - saving time, money, and lives.

Ordering AAIs for your school is simple. You can use the simple AAI form online, via email, or call us.

making the ordering process as simple as possible "

"Great prices, fast delivery, pleasure to do business with."

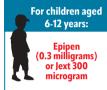

"Exceptional Service - highly recommended to Schools."

Department of Health state, "It is good practice for schools holding spare AAIs to store these as part of an emergency anaphylaxis kit which should include..."

- 1 or more AAI(s).
- Instructions on how to use the device(s).
- Instructions on storage of the AAI device(s).
- Manufacturer's information.
- An administration record
- · A checklist of injectors, identified by their batch number and expiry date with monthly checks recorded.
- A note of the arrangements for replacing the injectors.
- A list of pupils to whom the AAI can be administered.

See Pages 85-86 for EpiPens and Anaphylaxis Kits/ Storage or visit EurekaDirect.co.uk for the full range

Please note that AAIs are manufactured with expiry dates that vary from anywhere between 9-18 months from date of sale. If you wish to clarify the use by dates of our existing stock before placing your order please contact our sales department on 0800 358 0085. Our stock management protocols ensure no AAI devices ever go to waste.

CHOOSING EPIPENS & EMERGENCY ADRENALINE INJECTORS FOR YOUR SCHOOL

The Department for Education state "Schools are advised to hold an appropriate quantity of a single brand of AAI device to avoid confusion in administration and training. Where all pupils are prescribed the same device, the school should obtain the same brand for the spare AAI. If two or more brands are currently held by the school, the school may wish to purchase the brand most commonly prescribed to its pupils". EpiPens are currently the most common brand of AAI in the UK (hence why many people know AAIs as 'EpiPens'), however we also offer JEXT devices to enable schools to make an appropriate brand choice.

JEXT Adrenaline Auto Injectors Each JEXT device injects a pre-measured single dose of adrenaline for the emergency treatment of anaphylaxis

- · Needle is contained within the IEXT before use and is automatically covered by the black needle shield after use
- When you push JEXT firmly against the thigh, a spring activated plunger will be released, which pushes the hidden needle through the seal and the end of the black needle shield
- Available in 150mcg and 300mcg doses
- Buy individual devices as necessary to add to anaphylaxis kits (see below) or storage options (see Page 86) – ideal for staying dynamic with emergency plans without overspending
- Fast, free delivery in temperature controlled packaging
- Easy ordering using the AAI form online at Eurekadirect.co.uk, or via email, or by calling us on 0800 358 0085.

Simpler Recycling Now In Effect - Comply Today

Simpler Recycling came into effect on 31st March 2025. The legislation introduces mandatory recycling requirements for businesses, schools, public sector organisations, and charities across England for separating and streamlining different types of waste. Under DEFRA rules, the new default requirement for most households and workplaces will be 4 containers for: v residual (non-recyclable) waste, v food waste (mixed with garden waste if appropriate), ✓ paper and card, ✓ all other dry recyclable materials (plastic, metal and glass)

These may be various container types, including bags, bins or stackable boxes. With penalties for non-compliance, it is essential that receptacles for the 4 different waste types are clearly marked to ensure that simpler recycling protocols are followed on your site. Proper signage and systems also visibly demonstrate efforts made towards compliance and the operation of well-run premises in the event of an inspection.

Key Products For Well Prepared Schools

CHOOSING EPIPENS & EMERGENCY ADRENALINE INJECTORS FOR YOUR SCHOOL

The Department for Education state "Schools are advised to hold an appropriate quantity of a single brand of AAI device to avoid confusion in administration and training. Where all pupils are prescribed the same device, the school should obtain the same brand for the spare AAI. If two or more brands are currently held by the school, the school may wish to purchase the brand most commonly prescribed to its pupils". EpiPens are currently the most common brand of AAI in the UK (hence why many people know AAIs as 'EpiPens'), however we also offer JEXT devices to enable schools to make an appropriate brand choice.

Department of Health state, "It is good practice for schools holding spare AAIs to store these as part of an emergency anaphylaxis kit which should include..."

- 1 or more AAI(s).
- Instructions on how to use the device(s).
- Instructions on storage of the AAI device(s).
- Manufacturer's information.
- An administration record
- A checklist of injectors, identified by their batch number and expiry date with monthly checks recorded.
- A note of the arrangements for replacing the injectors.
- A list of pupils to whom the AAI can be administered.

Our anaphylaxis kits make it easy to meet this guidance at an attainable cost - see Pages 84-85 for more information
